WITTELSBACH, PRINCE ALBRECHT LUITPOLD

Eldest son of Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, heir to Bavarian throne; born in Berchtesgaden in 1915; born politician; enlisted early in army and became extremely popular; wisely avoided all meetings where royalists might demonstrate and thus arouse Nazi enmity; goes through motions of being a Nazi, but no more; married Hungarian Countess Draskowich von TRAKYOSTJAN in 1930 and has at least four children; Bavarian royalists have always felt that Austria and Bavaria belonged together; they think of Otto von HABSBURG (see U.S.), but admire the more manly Luitpold; it is interesting to note that he and his wife now combine the two countries which many Bavarians would like to see joined.
